

Plein Air ZigZag Sketchbook, Face to Face with requisite social distancing

May 20, 27, June , Wednesdays 9-11 am:

Itching to get outside and do something fun? Combine watercolor and ink in a pocket-sized zigzag sketchbook in three face-to-face sessions. We'll work outside at nearby locations with plenty of room for appropriate social distancing. You'll learn the basics of portable watercolor and ink sketching. Tools are great for sketching in your own back yard, or when travel is possible again, anywhere else in the world. No prior drawing experience needed. All levels of ability welcome.

$125 fee includes: three two-hour sessions on location, in addition to supporting materials. With private FaceBook group comment stream you see what others are asking and doing, and follow instructor Q&A. All levels of ability welcome. Access to FaceBook group is available for a month following the final face-to-face session. Private FaceBook group invitation and materials list provided after registration. Email through website contacts for PayPal link.

Teaching artist and author/illustrator, Tara Sweeney, has been creating sketchbooks for over forty years. Her picture book, A to Zååö: Playing with History at the American Swedish (University of MN Press, 2019) is a Minnesota Book Award Finalist. She is professor emeritus with Augsburg University where she taught drawing and painting for 25 years. She holds undergraduate degrees in studio art, and textile design from the University of Wisconsin, and an MFA from the Minneapolis College of Art and Design.